OF ART AND SCIENCE

Without people
I am nothing
I am told —
but,
I would rather be nothing
than what I am told
(to be)

In this profession (the loneliest of professions) we survive
because our clients do (sometimes)

We work hard with no one to guide us and our only leader
is GOD —
and even he will not let us know the answers

We swing
back and forth between two manmade mediums
of art and science ...
we make ourselves
happy by which of the two we claim to profess

Speaking
for myself I am

an artist
who practices
science well —
while others choose to invent and to discover rather than to create ...
yet,
that brings
no loss

But ... there is a balance and we tend to judge each other
by how well
we pivot

The art
is so boundless
so I choose it —
the science is forever
changing so one can never be (too) wrong

In practice
we come close to being the one (and only) ...
just think ...
I have held a beating heart in the palm of my hand and may have changed (a) life

I,
like others
will change
the sadness from pain into joy from relief and probably do so by just the way I speak or look into a pair
of eyes

I AM
an artist
that is why I choose
this struggling life(style)

I will be questioned and accused and envied
and hated
but I will still maintain the created symmetry

Colleagues
may choose only science and actually
cure the ill,
but never will

they know the true answers because
(as I have said)
GOD will not tell . . .

The artist who works without a brush
but with a scalpel
and a syringe
and most of all a pen

Yes,
the pen
the instrument which is the link
of art and science

Now,
I know
I will always study
and practice
no matter
how poor the future, for this artist
can never quit as long as there is the profession
with its pen,
GOD
and his answers,
and people

I keep having this thought of the medical student who is obsessed with Gross Anatomy. He studies the subject at school and at home until early morning. He is completely fascinated, and soon hopelessly compulsive.

Then, one night, in a quick act of despair, he takes the scalpel to his own flesh. He attempts to dissect his own arm in order to elucidate the orientation of its nerves and vessels. As he scrapes away the tissue he feels no pain. He is excited as he watches real blood drip from his extremity.

He continues in blood soaked pants and sleeve --- until his roommate enters the room and gasps at the horrid sight. But the student doesn't quit, he just sighs with relief. He is relieved to see that his parts match the illustration of the atlas.

Then there is pain. Finally the realization overcomes him. He faints to the floor.

As I keep having this thought, as compulsive as that student, I also wonder if I will go that far. To attain more than knowledge. To be more concerned with "how" rather than with "what."

Prayer From My Wife

She prayed to fern and stream and to whatever conscious force felled death — She prayed to her children's eyes and the music of lutes.
At night, she turned to love, the flowing stars
and the softness of the moon.
And soon, an energy (blue, bouncing, bright), myriad swimming lights, steering her dream.

Right now we are all in a hurry to graduate. But sooner than any of us realize, we will be looking back and remembering these as the 'good old days'. Between then and now, there will be many early morning phone calls and beepers that wake us up. During these moments, I hope I can remember the times "when no one owed me anything", the time at my admission interview when I said that I wanted to help people...

I dedicate this page to I've saved the summer and I give it all to you to hold on winter morning

I've saved some sunlight if you should ever need a place away from darkness where your mind can feed.

I know no answers to help you on your way the answers lie somewhere at the bottom of the day.

But if you've need for love I'll give you all I own it might help you down the road
'till you've found your own.

Together

*So come to me
And sit down next to me.
Let me wrap my arms around you,
Your body next to mine.
We won't mind the cold
And won't care about the dark.
It won't hurt you.
It can't.
I'll be here
Next to you.*

*And we'll have each other We'll need nothing more.
Who cares what they all say?
I don't
And if I thought you did Then I would not be here
Next to you
I'd be somewhere else
All alone.*

*So sit beside me,
Let the warmth be our guide
And lead us together Until the day we depart For things more profound At least we had each other,
At least for a little while.*

Untitled

*... grant me my plea
That I may live on still more
And when the time is indeed here, I will go
With something left behind for people to know That I was here.*

I shall pass through this world but once.
If, therefore, there be any kindness I can show, or any good thing I can do, let me do it now; let me not defer it or neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again.

WHY I'M A DO

- The dog ate my AMCAS application
 - Had influenza during all eight MCAT exams
 - Had a goober hanging from nose during entire RMS interview.
 - Drank heavily while writing personal statement of AMCAS application. Pat just drank heavily.
 - Had Hepatitis during all four years of college with acute exasperations during each set of finals. Sounds unbelievable I know.
 - Had an Acute Gaseous episode while leaving RMS interview, I was so close!
 - Granada sank.
 - Didn't believe in the germ theory in college. Still do not believe in the germ theory.
 - Had a 1.5 cumm GPA.
 - Filled out wrong application, Thought AMCOMAS was AMCAS
 - Stupidity.
- Didn't cheat enough in college.
 - Knew an MD once.
 - Told the truth why I wanted to become a doctor during RMS interview.
 - Too much personality?
 - Not synical enough to become an MD if you can believe that
 - Needed something to bitch about.

LOSE IT ALL

Lose it all
gain it back

Fight for what is owed
Wait for time
pay for time

Fight for what is owed Reach so high never cry

Dream — you're all alone

Poems by:
Robert G. Buscht

BE CAREFUL

Be careful what you say never say too much don't lead any one to any ideas . . .
forget about what they say

Never write about your father never write about your mother be careful what the readers think but don't let any one down

When you count to yourself count like this:
3, 81, 2, 101, 642, 34, 7, 420 . . . when you count out loud
count like this:
1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 . . .
and so on

Don't be late because some one is waiting (or they may be disappointed) be prompt because you can't afford to waste their time — don't be early or you'll waste your own

Don't talk about your wild ideas no one will understand just walk around with over-confidence and they'll wonder where you're off to Keep it clean never curse

comb your hair
tuck in your shirt

Be brave
be strong
do what is right then say good-bye to every one
